REPORTS

Dan Devoti, Zoning Officer

Mr. Devoti reported that he was in the house at 11 Amwell Road also known as the Dickinson house with the building inspector at the invitation of the pastor of the Reformed Church adjacent to the house. The addition at the back of the home has collapsed. The building inspector thinks the whole house needs to be demolished as he stated it is unsafe, Mr. Devoti disagrees and feels that the home could be saved. Mr. Devoti stated that he didn't go to the second floor because the stairs seemed unsafe but that the walls seem to be in good shape. The congregation of the Reformed Church at 1 Amwell Road wants to buy the property with the intention of creating a parking lot as has been informally. A discussion ensued.

Mr. Devoti informed the Board that he had researched the ordinances regarding 2-family homes and the original ordinance was established in 1953 and allowed 2-family homes on a property. The ordinance was changed in 1964 to only allow 1-family homes on a property. A discussion ensued.

Ms. Fung asked about a potential conflict of interest regarding the possibility of the Reformed church approaching the Planning Board for variances on 11 Amwell Road property. She identified herself and other board members and Historic District Commission members who are members of or who have family members who are members of the Reformed Church. Mr. Muller stated that they would have to recuse themselves from any applications filed.

Ms. Newman informed the Board that she heard that someone is living in the barn on the Rzem property. Mr. Devoti stated that he could not legally go onto the property without permission. A discussion ensued.

With an aye vote by all the Board agreed to adjourn the meeting at 10:24pm.

Submitted,

Denise Piszowski
Planning Board Secretary
